

Digitally Printed Signs

Using the latest digital printing technology with durable inks we can produce LARGE printed signs to include artists impressions or photographs. By using a printer that is capable of printing with solvent ink, such as the one shown here, we can produce a durable exterior grade sign, very quickly.

We can work with a variety of images including original artwork and various types of computer files. If you need any assistance regarding the types of files we prefer, please take a look at the page opposite or call our sales team who will be pleased to offer advice.

One of our most popular uses for digital printing is the production of sign boards showing large artists impressions. We can produce these beautiful and striking artists impressions with artwork supplied direct from the architect, using their original artwork.

If you think that digital printing could help you to improve the quality of your visual displays, then give us a call. We would be happy to help you with any questions, and would be pleased to quote you for any specific requirements that you may have.
